

Virtual Support Services

During this time as we transition to more virtual and distance based opportunities, Production Services offers a wide variety of solutions that can help you still reach your audience.

Video Recording

Production Services owns a wide variety of cameras, microphones, and professional video editing software that allows us to deliver recordings in high quality. From staged events to walking tours, production services is here to offer any recording services you may need. Previously created media such as PowerPoints or audio can be included.

Audio Recording

With podcasting quickly becoming a popular way to deliver media, audio recording could be a solution for you. We have equipment to record and edit voiceovers, live bands for mass duplication, and more. All of our recording equipment is portable so no need to worry about where to record. We also offer guidance on purchasing and recording for your own audio projects.

Live Streaming

Production Services can livestream your event on platforms like Zoom, YouTube, and Facebook. With multiple cameras and audio equipment, we can support multiple presenters. Our recent streaming clients have chosen creative locations like Lane Stadium, student centers, and other places on campus to help bring their messages to life.

We've streamed graduations, admission events, departmental addresses, and even university presidential addresses. No event is too big or too small to consider streaming. We offer solutions for audience interaction as well. From displaying live questions to integrating a social media account, we can make sure your audience can reach you directly and during your stream.
